

Norsk Grotteblad nr 75, Desember 2020

"Sædcella" i lille-Dumdalen

An unusual form looking like a sperm cell is found. Probably a chemical reaction of a pad of moss and the action of water over thousands of years formed this feature.