Grottetur sammen med nye og gamle venner

The author and her friends visited some caves in Northern Norway and started by caving in Hammernesgrotta. This cave is fun to do because it has both, big and narrow openings. While exploring the cave an opening was reached where they all got a nice view over the landscape below. The day after Svarthamarhola in Fauske was visited, a large cave with a glacier inside. It also has a keyhole at the end of one passage where it is possible to get a view outside. Trollkjerka in Evenes was the third cave and a great experience.
