

Norsk Grotteblad nr 77, Desember 2021

En turistgrotte i Costa Rica

The author found old pictures from a caving tour in Costa Rica from 2014. She describes the way to the cave «Caverna Terciopelo», the equipment provided to climb down a 17 metre iron ladder and the safety regulations involved. Down in the cave she found a wonderland of many different kinds of speleothems, mostly white in colour. She was very impressed and to find more information about the cave you can check the Internet.