

En saltdaling kastet søppel i ei grotte - og fikk 8.000 i bot!

A resident of Saltdal threw garbage in a cave - and was fined 8000!

In the summer of 2001 a large amount of garbage, including car parts and a refrigerator, was thrown into the cave Bjørndalssjakta in Saltdal. Three trips to the cave in 2001 are reported. It appeared that the garbage had been deposited by a tractor. The Norwegian Speleological Society launched a formal complaint with the bailiff. The perpetrator has paid 8000 kr. in fine. It will be difficult and expensive to get the garbage removed, but the idea is not abandoned.